Good Farming in Denmark

Denmark, with a population of less than 3,000,000, has seventy "primary high" schools teaching scientific farming, dairying, cattle breeding, etc., and many special schools for similar purposes. She can export $110,000,000 worth of meat, poultry and dairy products every year, while countries of haphazard farming methods complain of the high cost of living.

DUTY

Your best is never too much to do
And your heart is never too much to give
In the service of those who look to you
For the joy they have and their fight to live.

To cheerfully do the best you may
Is never too much for the wage you get,
And whoever does less, whatever his pay,
At the end of the day is deep in debt.

The best you may do is never too great
For the chance you have and joy you claim,
And they that do less keep selecting Fate
To be vainly cursed and to hear the blame.

Ilisley Happenings

Yesterday was a sizzler.

Tom Terry was meandering down Main street here yesterday.

Rufe Majors is now the unconquered champion of this part of the moral vineyard, he having won the decision in the Pleasant Majors contest, which was staged in front of the Company Store a few days since.

Lacy Ramsey paid in a load of vegetables on Jeffs bond last week, and Arthur Melton and Bob Lee are expected to come across with some cabbage for their part next week. Lan Harrison we hear declines signing the bond.

Chas. Martin the expert electrician has been doing some repair work on D. O. Woodruff's automobile. Tom Harland, who assisted him in the work says that after the car had been repaired Charlie concluded to give an exhibition in joy riding and after landing at the bottom of Brummer's bill and counting up "Fatalities" it was found that all the bark had been peeled from the giant oak that marks the corner to Woodruff and the carbon-dale land.

Tom Ashmore has moved his hogs to a tree back of R. J. Salmon's stables.

U. L. Ledbetter is up after a spell of dysentery, and he looks slightly disfigured but is still in the ring.

Uncle Fudd Haskins and son "Little Fudd" gave an entertainment at the schoolhouse last night consisting of moving pictures etc. Guy Majors played the part of Boade the snake eater, and consumed several lizards and scorpions on the side. Guy was assisted by Bud Pool the nail eater.

No More Dyspepsia.

OPEN LETTER

From State Superintendent of Schools, Frankfort, Ky.

TO TEACHERS and TRUSTEES—

The proper medium for the settlement of controversies arising between teachers and trustees is the County superintendent of schools. Many teachers, trustees and citizens have a custom of writing the State Superintendent of Public Instruction about every little detail of school management. I have no objection to answering these inquiries and it is always a pleasure to render assistance to any school officials or citizen interested in the welfare of the school. These requests often state only one side of the question and it is impossible to give a fair decision until we have heard both sides. In view of these facts, I think it wise and just for all trustees, teachers and citizens to submit these questions first to the County superintendent. When an opinion is needed, the county superintendent is the proper person to ask for an opinion from the state office. When this is done, he can give both sides of the question and the state office can render an intelligent opinion. Strictly speaking, I have no authority to give an opinion, except upon an appeal from the decision of the county superintendent or upon his request. I desire to make this appeal to all teachers and trustees, to submit your questions first to the county superintendent, who is the proper person to decide all questions of difference and doubt regarding the schools of his county.

Yours very truly,
BARNESDALE HAMLETT
Superintendent

BREVITY

Pat Henry reaped undying fame By getting both feet in the game, And muttering a sentence—only one, but to the point. He said his say in just one breath: He asked for liberty or death. Nor spent an hour preaching till his tongue was out of joint.

Now Pocahontas pulled a stunt— She got a hit on just a bunt— She said no word but grabbed some fume by merely making signs. Joo, Smith, who figured in the deal, Grew famous too, nber missed a meal. Nor said a word of consequence— he'd never learned his lines.

When Lincoln spoke at Gettysburg He gurgled not a gushing gurg: He merely made his speech and quickly ambled down. He didn't yell, gesticulate, He said his lines and pulled his freight, And for those brief remarks of his he gathered much renown.

These lines are meant to point the way To trails that lead from yesterday; They're here to show that active tongues are sometimes made to hold

That spilling wordlets here and there And pumping out great waves of air Is mostly taken at its worth. Forgotten ere it's cold.

LORIMER IS UNSEATED

From the United States Senate by Vote of 55 to 28

Washington, D. C., July 13.—On the ground that corrupt practices were used in his election, the U. S. senate today voted to unseat Wm. Lorimer, of Illinois. The vote was 55 to 28.

March 1, 1911, the senate permitted Lorimer to keep his seat by a vote of 46 to 40. On July 6, the second trial started.

As soon as the vote was announced today, Lorimer left the chamber without saying a word.

Lorimer was elected Senator on May 26, 1909, following a long deadlock in the Illinois legislature. A coalition of Republican and Democratic forces accomplished his election. A year later several members of that legislature signed confession alleging that they had been paid for their votes. Later charges revealed a "slush fund" to "put Lorimer over" to which big corporations were invited to contribute. In all the various investigations to date Lorimer has vigorously denied any corrupt practices in the senatorial deadlock.

Diminishing Railway Returns

Confidence in the ability of a railway company properly to continue its operations and adequately to maintain and extend its facilities depends in greatest measure upon its net operating revenue. This is what is left of the receipts from traffic constituting the total operating revenue, after the operating expenses have been met. As the mileage of the railways tends to increase year by year, an accurate measure is obtained of the operating revenues, operating expenses, and net operating revenue by ascertaining what they have amounted to for each mile. It may be, for example, as was the case in March, that while in the aggregate net operating revenue has increased, it has decreased when measured per mile of line.

Monthly summaries of the revenues and expenses of the steam railways of the United States have been compiled by the Bureau of Railway Economics from the reports filed month by month the railways with the Interstate Commerce Commission, for the twenty-two months from July, 1910 to April, 1912, the latest month for which returns are available. Net operating revenue per mile of line for the railways as a whole in comparison with the corresponding months of the previous year decreased in eighteen of these months, and increased in but four. The decrease per mile of line per month was as great in amount as $58, and as great in ratio as 15 per cent. The greatest increase for any one of the four months showing increases was $31, or 14.1 per cent. This was in February, 1912, and was exceptional as this month contained one more day than February, 1911. The highest average net operating revenue per mile of line for any one month of this period was $409, the lowest $208.

Seven of the ten months from July, 1911 to April, 1912, show decreases in net operating revenue per mile of line as compared with the corresponding months of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1910. It is therefore evident that the trend of railway net revenue has been downward for the past two years.

The summary, for April, 1912, shows that net operating revenue was less than for April, 1911, by $6,026,440, equivalent per mile of line to $33, or 11.4 per cent. This net operating revenue, which in the aggregate amounted to $56,362,945, averaged $8.57 for each mile of line for each day in April, less by $1.11 than for each day of April of last year. This is the gross income per mile of line per day before anything has been taken out for taxes, rentals interest on bonds, appropriations for betterments or dividends. Taxes for April amounted to $4 per mile of line an, increase of 9.4 per cent.

Dysentery is always serious and often a dangerous disease, but it can be cured. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has cured it even when malignant and epidemic. For sale by all Dealers.

Read what an Earlington citizen says:

Mrs. Francis Rutherford, Earlington, Ky., says: "For three years I was afflicted with kidney trouble. Wanted—A Home for Babies

A recent advertisement in the county papers succeeded in finding homes for a large number of our children and a great many applications are coming in now for the older children that we can not fill. We have over 60 children under 8 years of age; we have 16 boy babies, 8 months and younger, splendid little fellows, any one of whom you might expect some day to be President of the United States, and we have the sweetest and prettiest lot of little boys and girls from 2 to 8 years of age to be found anywhere.

These children need homes; especially do they need the pure country air and good food for the summer months. Won't you take an interest in these children and allow us to place one of them in your home, on trial at least? It is very hard to have these children cramped up in an institution during the summer months.

We trust our appeal will result in a large number of applications coming in for the little babies, as well as the boys and girls from 2 to 8 years of age.

Thanking you in advance, I remain, Yours very respectfully,
Geo. L. SEHON,
State Superintendent.

This canine with the tolling tongue;

You kick him, and that breaks my

'Tis naught to me what rank he has
You shall not kick him as we pass.

BY A. C. SWINBURNE

You do what you think I can't help.

And yammer and yell at his yelp.
O, kickers who kick night and mor-

Don't kick him again!

To Save Trees of Australia.

None too soon a popular movement has been set on foot in Australia to preserve the gigantic stringybarks (various species of eucalyptus) of that country, which far exceed in height the famous "big trees" of California, and are the tallest trees in the world.
These trees sometimes attain heights ranging from 400 to 500 feet. Their timber is exceedingly valuable, and for this reason they have been ruthlessly destroyed by lumbermen.

In these days of high cost of living, a medicine that gets a man up out of bed and able to work in a few days is a safe and valuable remedy.
John Heath, Michigan Bar, Cal.,
says: "I had kidney and bladder trouble for nearly six years, and was confined to my bed, unable to turn without help. Soon after I commenced using Foley Kidney Pills and was relieved at once."
His example is worth following.
Foley Kidney Pills will do for done for John Heath. Try them. St.

Railway Employees in United States are Best Paid in the World

Information is not obtainable upon which can be based a comprehensive statement of railway wages being paid at this time in the different countries. Therefore it is necessary to make comparisons for the latest year for which comparable data are available.

The average daily compensation of railway employees of all classes for the year 1910 was in the United States, $2.23; in the United Kingdom, $1.05; excluding supplementary allowances negligibly affecting the average, it was in Prussia-Hesse 81 cents. The lowest paid railway employee in the United States, the ordinary trackman, receives a greater compensation than many of the railway employees of France, even those of higher grades and with responsible duties. The compensation of railway employees is from two to three times as high in the United States as in Italy.

A recent report of the Board of Trade on railway wages shows that the average weekly pay of engine-men in the United Kingdom in 1907 was $11.17; of firemen, $6.67. In the same year engine-men on American railways received an average weekly compensation of $25.80, counting six days to the week, and firemen $15.24. Recent returns make it clear that in 1912 engine-men and firemen are compensated at rates of pay for specific runs that are two, three and four times as high as the corresponding rates on representative English railways. The annual compensation of engine-men in the United States, as reported by two representative railway companies, now ranges from $1,100 in switching service to over $2,800 in passenger service, and of firemen from $700 in switching service to over $1,700 in passenger service.

For Continental Europe official returns in exquisite detail are not available for a later year than 1908.

The salaries and allowances of the typical engine-man in Germany amounted for that year to $946.88, in Austria to $870.80; of a fireman in Germany to $424.59 in Austria to $382.03. The annual compensation of engine-men on two of the principal railways of France ranged in 1908 from $505.66 to $906.91, and of firemen from $324.24 to $665.96. In Italy engine-men received in 1908, salary and allowances included, from $381.10 to $812.70 a year; firemen, from $390.80 to $475.05 a year. In these Continental countries the maximum compensation is received only after many years of service.

The average annual compensation of engine-men in the United States in 1908, on an estimated basis of 300 days' service, was $1,355; of firemen $792. In this country the rate of compensation to these employees does not depend on length of service.

In Belgium engine-men received in 1907 from $23.16 to $38.60 a month; conductors and station employees, from 46 cents to 96 cents a day. In the United States, in the same year 1907, engine-men averaged, on the basis of 25 days' service, $107.50 a month; firemen, $63.50 a month; conductors, $3.69 a day; station employees, from $1.78 to $2.06 a day.

An accurate wage comparison must take into account relative cost of living, and this has been done, so far as ascertainable data permits.

The rental of a three or four room house or flat is almost as high in Berlin, Paris, or London as throughout the United States, but in England and on the Continent it generally runs from thirty dollars to ninety dollars a year less. The quantity of food and fuel estimated by the Board of Trade of England as the standard consumption of a typical workingman's family costs in the United States 17.8 per cent more than in France or in Germany; 35.3 per cent more than in Belgium, and 88 per cent more than in the United Kingdom.

It is well within the truth to estimate in a broad and general way that while the cost of living of a railway employee in the United States is less than fifty per cent higher than that of a corresponding employee in the United Kingdom or on the Continent, his compensation averages over twice as great.

High Prices for Old Furniture.
People who dislike to part with their old furniture may derive encouragement as to the increasing value of such possessions from a recent auction sale in France, at which an old sofa and four chairs brought $50,000. The set, however, was covered with Gobelin tapestry of the period of the Regency, and probably cost a goodly sum even when new. At the same sale a string of pearls brought $99,000.

A lame back or shoulder puts a man on the retired list temporarily. The time will be short if BALLAD'S SNOW LINIMENT is rubbed in. It relaxes the muscles, relieves pain and restores strength and elasticity in the joints. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by St. Bernard Mining Co., Incorporated, Drug Department.
